Whoever You Are.
Whatever You Believe.
Everything Is About to Change.

The stunningly inventive new novel
from the world's most popular thriller writer

Bilbao, Spain

Robert Langdon, Harvard professor of symbology and religious iconology, arrives at the ultramodern Guggenheim Museum Bilbao to attend a major announcement—the unveiling of a discovery that “will change the face of science forever.” The evening’s host is Edmond Kirsch, a forty-year-old billionaire and futurist whose dazzling high-tech inventions and audacious predictions have made him a renowned global figure. Kirsch, who was one of Langdon’s first students at Harvard two decades earlier, is about to reveal an astonishing breakthrough... one that will answer two of the fundamental questions of human existence.

As the event begins, Langdon and several hundred guests find themselves captivated by an utterly original presentation, which Langdon realizes will be far more controversial than he ever imagined. But the meticulously orchestrated evening suddenly erupts into chaos, and Kirsch’s precious discovery teeters on the brink of being lost forever. Reeling and facing an imminent threat, Langdon is forced into a desperate bid to escape Bilbao. With him is Ambra Vidal, the elegant museum director who worked with Kirsch to stage the provocative event. Together they flee to Barcelona on a perilous quest to locate a cryptic password that will unlock Kirsch’s secret.

Navigating the dark corridors of hidden history and extreme religion, Langdon and Vidal must evade a tormented enemy whose all-knowing power seems to emanate from Spain’s Royal Palace itself... and who will stop at nothing to silence Edmond Kirsch. On a trail marked by modern art and enigmatic symbols, Langdon and Vidal uncover clues that ultimately bring them face-to-face with Kirsch’s shocking discovery... and the breathtaking truth that has long eluded us.

Dan Brown is the author of numerous #1 bestselling novels, including The Da Vinci Code, which has sold more than 83 million copies worldwide, making it one of the bestselling novels of all time. His novels are published in 56 languages around the world. Please visit www.DanBrown.com

“Brad Thor puts the rest of the genre on notice—Use of Force is the thriller to beat in 2017.”—The Real Book Spy

“Well-conceived, perfectly timed [and] elegantly paced... Use of Force reads like a textbook of thriller writing, harking back as well to the best of masters like Alistair MacLean and David Morrell.”

—The Providence Journal

As a storm rages across the Mediterranean Sea, a terrifying distress call is made to the Italian Coast Guard. Days later, a body washes ashore. Identified as a high value terrorism suspect (who had disappeared three years prior), his name sends panic through the Central Intelligence Agency. Where was he headed? What was he planning? And could he be connected to the “spectacular attack” they have been fearing all summer? In a race against time, the CIA taps an unorthodox source to get answers: Navy SEAL turned covert counterterrorism operative, Scot Harvath. Hired on a black contract, Harvath will provide the deniability the United States needs, while he breaks every rule along the way.

Four starred reviews

Named a Best New Book by Entertainment Weekly

“[S]pooky, sure-footed debut... It’s a provocative, dystopian page-turner about patriarchy run amok—just the thing to tide you over until the next season of The Handmaid’s Tale.”—People magazine, Book of the Week

“Melamed’s haunting and powerful debut blazes a fresh path... a formidable author in the vein of Shirley Jackson and Margaret Atwood.”—Publishers Weekly (starred)

“This beautifully and carefully constructed work pulls no punches in its depiction of a bleak future; it will attract fans of Margaret Atwood’s The Handmaid’s Tale...”—Library Journal (starred)

“Fearsome, vivid, and raw.”—Kirkus Reviews (starred)

“Melamed hasn’t written a simple didactic dystopia; her island is more brutal but also more hopeful than the usual brave new world — if only the four girls facing its horrific rituals can learn the truth in time.”

—Boris Kachka, New York Magazine

Years ago, ten men colonized an island off the coast of a crumbling nation. There they built a society based on ancestor worship, controlled breeding, and the strict rationing of knowledge. At the first sign of puberty, the daughters of this community face their Summer of Fruition, a ritualistic season that drags them from adolescence to matrimony. And it is at the end of one summer that little Caitlin Jacob sees something so horrifying, that she must share it with the others. Born rebel Janey Solomon steps up to seek the truth. Trying urgently to unravel the mysteries of the island and what lies beyond, before her own demise, she attempts to lead the girls in an uprising that may be their undoing.

Jennie Melamed is a psychiatric nurse practitioner who works with traumatized children. She lives in Seattle with her husband and three dogs.

KINGS OF BROKEN THINGS

Theodore Wheeler

Little A, August 2017 (World English + German)

Agent: Stephanie Delman

“Vivid and dynamic... [Kings of Broken Things] illuminates a savage moment in history and offers a timely comment on nationalism and racism. An unsettling and insightful piece of historical fiction.”

—Kirkus Reviews

“Wheeler’s first novel brings his news-reporter’s skill to this retelling of the Omaha Race Riot of 1919....Readers will be drawn into Wheeler’s careful re-creation of a turbulent time.”—Booklist

“Powerful and resonant, this book’s relevance, in the context of today’s concerns, cannot be overstated.”—Julie Iromuanya, author of Mr. and Mrs. Doctor

“A beautifully written novel about an ugly, tumultuous time in history... It’s a novel that simmers, like Doctorow’s Ragtime, leaning forward always toward its powerful final chapters.”

—Timothy Schaffert, author of The Swan Gondola

During the waning days of World War I, three lost souls find themselves adrift in Omaha, Nebraska, at a time of unprecedented nationalism, xenophobia, and political corruption. Adolescent European refugee Karel Miihlstein’s life is transformed after neighborhood boys discover his prodigious natural talent for baseball. Jake Strauss, a young man with a violent past and desperate for a second chance, is drawn into a criminal underworld. Evie Chambers, a kept woman, is trying to make ends meet and looking every which way to escape her cheerless existence. As wounded soldiers return from the front and black migrant workers move north in search of economic opportunity, the immigrant wards of Omaha become a tinderbox of racial resentment stoked by unscrupulous politicians. Punctuated by an unspeakable act of mob violence, the fates of Karel, Jake, and Evie will become inexorably entangled with the schemes of a ruthless political boss whose will to power knows no bounds. Written in the tradition of Don DeLillo and Colum McCann, with a great debt to Ralph Ellison, Theodore Wheeler’s debut novel Kings of Broken Things is a panoramic view of a city on the brink of implosion during the course of this summer of strife.

Theodore Wheeler is a reporter who covers civil law and politics in Omaha, Nebraska, where he lives with his family. His fiction has been featured in Best New American Voices, New Stories from the Midwest, the Southern Review, the Kenyon Review, among others, and received special mention in a Pushcart Prize anthology. A graduate of the MFA program at Creighton University, Wheeler is the author of Bad Faith, a collection of short fiction. Kings of Broken Things is his first novel. POINTS NORTH

Howard Frank Mosher

St. Martin's Press, January 2018

Agent: Dan Mandel

The final book by one of America's most treasured writers.

Upon his passing in January 2017, Howard Frank Mosher was recognized as one of America's most acclaimed writers. His fiction set in the world of Vermont's fabled Northeast Kingdom chronicles the intertwining family histories of the natives, wanderers, outcasts, and others who settled in this ethereal place. In its obituary, The New York Times wrote, "Mr. Mosher's fictional Kingdom County, Vt., became his New England version of Faulkner's Yoknapatawpha County."

In Points North, completed just weeks before his death, Mosher presents a brilliant, lovingly-evoked collection of stories that center around the Kinneson family, ranging over decades of their history in the Kingdom. From a loquacious itinerant preacher who beguiles the reticent farmers and shopkeepers of a small New England town, to a proposed dam that threatens the river that Kinneson men have fished for generations, the scandalous secret of a romance and its violent consequences, and a young man's seemingly fruitless search for love—Points North is a full-hearted, gently-comic, and beautifully-written last gift to the readers who treasure Howard Frank Mosher.

Praise for Howard Frank Mosher

"This is American fiction at its very best."—Stephen King

"Mosher writes of a community where blood runs thick with meaning...."

—New York Times Book Review

"Mosher's beloved Vermont 'Kingdom' has become one of America's most magical literary places."—Richard Russo

"The journey Mr. Mosher describes is very familiar to me—made more poignant by the faultless details and inimitable characters the author encounters on his odyssey of self-discovery. Mosher has always been a gifted storyteller; this time, there is an added euphoria in his storytelling..."—John Irving

"A vast library of stories about the Northeast Kingdom as a microcosm for the world at large."—Chris Bohjalian

Howard Frank Mosher was the author of thirteen previous books of fiction and nonfiction. He received Guggenheim and National Endowment for the Arts fellowships, the American Academy of Arts and Letters Literature Award, the New England Book Award, and the 2011 New England Independent Booksellers Association's President's Award for Lifetime Achievement in the Arts. In January 2017, Mosher passed away at the age of seventy-four in Vermont. Please visit www.howardfrankmosher.com

New York Times bestselling author, Emma Hart, brings the heat and heart in a brand-new series of sexy standalone novels, starting with Sin...

Damien Fox lived up to his name. Cunning, sly, and dangerous, fifty percent of Vegas' strip clubs were his. Whatever he wanted, money, attention, women, he got. And now he wanted to buy my bar, no matter the cost. I wanted him to go to hell on a first-class ticket. He played a dirty game, and I followed his rules. I let him think he would win. I couldn't deny myself, even though I knew better than to trust a fox...

By day, Emma Hart dons a cape and calls herself Super Mum to two beautiful little monsters. By night, she drops the cape, pours a glass of whatever she fancies—usually wine—and writes books. She is the author of 8 series and numerous standalone novels, including the New York Times and USA Today bestselling author of The Game new adult series about two university students who challenge themselves not to fall in love.

“Captivating characters combine with a riveting plot to make Proof a must-read crime-solving mystery that you won’t be able to put down.”—Buzzfeed

In Proof, still haunted by the betrayal that forced her to leave a prestigious law firm, Caroline struggles to keep her practice afloat—and her paranoia in check. When her grandmother dies, she mourns losing the only constant in her life. But grief soon turns to suspicion when she discovers her grandmother left her entire estate to a charity called Oasis Care. On the surface, Oasis helps society’s outcasts, like Caroline’s alcoholic, homeless uncle. But as she digs deeper, Caroline uncovers a sinister plot that sends her running for her life. Plunged into a world of addicts and broken souls, Caroline finds sanctuary with her uncle and a group of outcasts while building evidence for her case. As she sifts through the shadowy world of the Goliath nonprofit, Caroline is forced to confront her own dark shadows, casting doubt on her ability—and her sanity.

For fifteen years, C. E. Tobisman has been an appellate attorney, handling cases in the California courts of appeal and Supreme Court. After graduating from UC Berkeley and attending law school there, she moved to Los Angeles, where she now lives with her wife and their three children. Please visit cetobisman.com

by Kirkus Reviews

“Intense... Connell keeps readers guessing to the end as to just who’s trustworthy and who might be part of the shadowy syndicate.”—Publishers Weekly

“A thrilling hunt... gripping and gruesome.”—James Becker, author of The Lost Testament

“[B]est historical crime novel I’ve read all year. As vivid a sense of time and place as anything by Alan Furst, a killer as horrifying as any in Thomas Harris...”—Scott Phillips, author of The Ice Harvest

“A well-crafted, classic police tale set in postwar 1945 Munich, a city that could double as the living room of hell.”—Larry Bond, author of Red Phoenix and Shattered Trident

“Excitement melds with adventure as the tangled threads gradually unwind, revealing treachery coming from all directions.”—Steve Berry, author of The Patriot Threat

In the winter of 1945, seven months after the Nazi defeat, Munich is in ruins. Mason Collins is a U.S. Army criminal investigator in the American Zone of Occupation. It’s his job to enforce the law in a place where order has been obliterated. In Ruins of War, a killer is stalking the devastated city, and Mason must venture into places where his own life is put at risk, as the killer he’s chasing is stalking him, too. In Spoils of Victory, Mason discovers a group of powerful men are taking over the lucrative black market trade. There are fortunes to be made on the black market, but murder, extortion, and corruption have become the norm.

“Extremely well written, it is a novel for those who love to explore the ideas and ethics of space travel, and deep isolation... Fans of hard science with a literary bent in their science fiction will love it.”—New York Journal of Books

Captain Ronaldo Aldo has committed an unforgivable crime. He will ask for forgiveness all the same: from you, from God, even from himself. Connected by ansible, humanity has spread across galaxies and fought a war against an enemy that remains a mystery. At the edge of human space sits the Citadel—a relic of the war and a listening station for the enemy’s return. For a young Ensign Aldo, fresh from the academy and newly cloned across the ansible line, it’s a prison from which he may never escape.

Deplorable work conditions and deafening silence from the blackness of space have left morale on the station low and tensions high. Aldo’s only hope of transcending his station, and cloning a piece of his soul somewhere new is both his triumph and his terrible crime.

Joe M. McDermott is the author of several novels, including the Dogsland trilogy and his debut fantasy novel, Last Dragon, which was shortlisted for a Crawford Prize and was named Locus Magazine’s Recommended Reading List for Debuts. His work has appeared in Asimov’s, Analog, and Lady Churchill’s Rosebud Wristlet. He holds an MFA from the University of Southern Maine’s Stonecoast Program.

Eons ago, a pair of gods known as the “Twins” grew powerful in the world of Fiatera, until the Divine Mother and Almighty Father exiled them, binding them deep in the earth. To prevent these young gods from rising again, all twins in the land must be killed at birth, a safeguard that has worked, until now. Trapped for centuries, the Twins are gathering their powers to break free and destroy the Parents for their tyranny—a fight between two generations of gods for control of the world and the mortals who dwell in it.

When the gods make war, only one side can be victorious. Joros, a mysterious and cunning priest, has devised a dangerous plan to win. Over eight years, he gathers a team of disparate fighters—the damaged swordsman Scal; the scarred priestess Vatri; the drug-addled wanderer Anddyr; and Rora and Aro, a pair of twins who have secretly survived beyond the reach of the law. These warriors must learn to stand together against the unfathomable power of vengeful gods, to stop them from tearing down the sun... and plunging their world into darkness.

“An outstanding debut. Durfee writes with genuine passion, bringing his world fully to life with abounding detail and brisk, gutsy action.”—John Marco, author of Tyrants and Kings series

A massive army on the brink of conquest looms large in a world where prophecies are lies, magic is believed in but never seen, and hope is where you least expect to find it. Welcome to the Five Isles, where war has come in the name of the invading army of Sør Sevier, a merciless host driven by the prophetic fervor of the Angel Prince, Aeros, toward the last unconquered kingdom of Gul Kana. Yet Gault, one of the elite Knights Archaic of Sør Sevier, is growing disillusioned by the crusade he is at the vanguard of just as it embarks on his Lord Aeros’ greatest triumph.

While the eldest son of the fallen king of Gul Kana now reigns in ever increasing paranoid isolationism, his two sisters seek their own paths. Jondralyn, the older sister, renowned for her beauty, only desires to prove her worth as a warrior, while Tala, the younger sister, has uncovered a secret that may not only destroy her family but the entire kingdom. Then there’s Hawkwood, the assassin sent to kill Jondralyn who has instead fallen in love with her and trains her in his deadly art. All are led further into dangerous conspiracies within the court. And hidden at the edge of Gul Kana is Nail, the orphan taken by the enigmatic Shawcroft to the remote whaling village of Gallows Haven, a young man who may hold the link to the salvation of the entire Five Isles. You may think you know this story, but everyone is not who they seem, nor do they fit the roles you expect. Durfee has created an epic fantasy full of hope in a world based on lies.

Brian Lee Durfee is an artist and writer raised in Fairbanks, Alaska, and Monroe, Utah. He has done illustrations for Wizards of the Coast, Tolkien Enterprises, Dungeons & Dragons, Humane Society Wildlife Land Trust (Denali National Park), and many more. Dragonlance and Ravenloft

“Tracy and Laura Hickman create a world so complex and dynamic that the reader will be surprised in every chapter. Readers will anxiously await the next installment in this unique, thrilling new series.”—RT Book Reviews

Gamin, Maine, is a remote seaside town where everyone seems to know Ellis Harkington better than she knows herself—but she doesn't remember any of them.

Unknown events have robbed Ellis of her memory. Concerned individuals, who claim to be friends and loved ones, insist that she simply needs to recuperate, and that her memories may return in time. But, for her own sake—so they claim—they refuse to divulge what has brought her to this state.

Ellis finds herself adrift in a town of ominous mysteries, cryptic hints, and disturbingly familiar strangers. The Nightbirds, a clique of fashionable young men and women, claim her as one of their own, but who can she truly trust? And what of the phantom suitor who visits her in her dreams? Is he a memory, a figment of her imagination, or a living nightmare beyond rational explanation?

Only her lost past holds the answers she seeks—if she can uncover its secrets before she falls prey to an unearthly killer.

Tracy Hickman and Laura Hickman have been publishing game designs, books, and stories for over thirty-five years. In addition, Tracy is a New York Times bestselling coauthor of many novels, including the original Dragonlance Chronicles, Dragonlance Legends, Rose of the Prophet, and Darksword trilogies as well as the seven-book Deathgate Cycle. THE INTREPID TRAVELER:
Rediscovering Discovery in a Wired World
Seth Kugel

W. W. Norton, 2018 (World English)
Agent: Dan Mandel

An indispensable companion for rookie and veteran travelers alike, one that promises to revolutionize both how and why we vacation.

Having captivated millions during his five-year tenure as the New York Times's "Frugal Traveler," Seth Kugel has become one of our most internationally beloved travel writers. While his famously unassuming journeys around the globe have forged a signature philosophy of whimsy and practicality, they have also revealed the seemingly infinite booby traps of vacationing on the grid. In a book with widespread cultural reverberations, Kugel takes the modern travel industry to task, determined to reignite humanity's age-old sense of adventure that have virtually been vanquished by the spontaneity-obliterating likes of Google Maps, TripAdvisor, and Starwood points. Woven throughout with vivid tales of his perfectly imperfect adventures, The Intrepid Traveler explains—often hilariously—how to make the most of new digital technologies without being shackled to them. For the tight-belted tourist and the first-class flyer, the eager student and the comfort-seeking retiree, Kugel shows how we too can rediscover the joy of discovery.

Seth Kugel, the New York Times's "Frugal Traveler" from 2010 to 2016, hosts the hit YouTube channel "Amigo Gringo." Kugel lived in Brazil and is fluent in Portuguese. He has been profiled in The New Yorker and has appeared on CBS This Morning, NPR, and BBC Travel. Please visit sethkugel.com

ALL THAT GLITTERS:

Anna Wintour, Tina Brown, and the Rivalry inside America's Richest Media Empire Thomas Maier

Grand Central, Summer 2018

Agent: Faith Hamlin

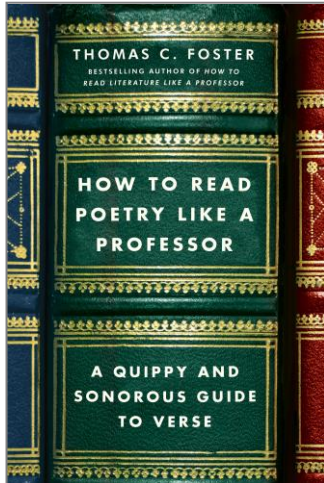

The 1980s rivalry between superstars Anna Wintour of Vogue and Tina Brown of Vanity Fair— an original TV series coming to Bravo in 2018

Inside the Condé Nast magazine world run by billionaire S. I. Newhouse Jr., Anna Wintour and Tina Brown were bold and talented British women who fought their way to the top of this male-dominated American industry driven by greed and betrayal. Wintour became an icon of fashion and New York's high society, while Brown helped define the intersection of literary culture and Hollywood celebrity. They jockeyed for power in the hypercompetitive “off with their heads” atmosphere set up by Newhouse and his longtime creative guru Alex Liberman, two men who for years controlled the glossy Condé Nast magazines that dictated how women should look, dress, and feel.

In turning this world upside down, Wintour and Brown challenged the old rules and made Newhouse's company internationally famous. Ultimately, one of them won in their fascinating struggle for fame and fortune during the height of New York's gilded age of print—a time before the Internet, before 9/11, when the Reagans ruled the White House and Donald Trump was a mere local developer featured on the cover of Newhouse's publications.

At its heart, All That Glitters is a parable about the changes in America's media, where corruption and easy compromises are sprinkled with glitter, power and glory. Originally titled Newhouse, this re-issued version, with a new introduction and afterword, won the 1994 Frank Luther Mott Award for best researched media book of the year.

Thomas Maier is the author/ producer of Masters of Sex, the book which is the basis for the award-winning Showtime television series and has been licensed in six countries. He is also the author of When Lions Roar: The Kennedys and Churchills; the critically acclaimed biography Dr. Spock, which was a New York Times Notable Book of the Year, one of the Boston Globe's top ten nonfiction titles of the year, and the subject of a BBC and A&E Biography documentary; and The Kennedys: America's Emerald Kings, a multi-generational history of the Kennedy family. HOW TO READ POETRY LIKE A PROFESSOR: A Quippy Sonorous Guide to Verse Thomas C. Foster

HarperPerennial, April 2018 (World English)

Agent: Faith Hamlin

From the bestselling author of How to Read Literature Like a Professor comes this essential primer to reading poetry like a professor that unlocks the keys to enjoying works from Lord Byron to the Beatles.

No literary form is as admired and feared as poetry. Admired for its lengthy pedigree—a line of poets extending back to a time before recorded history—and a ubiquitous presence in virtually all cultures, poetry is also revered for its great beauty and the powerful emotions it evokes. But the form has also instilled trepidation in its many admirers mainly because of a lack of familiarity and knowledge.

Reading poetry doesn't need to feel overwhelming. In an entertaining and engaging voice, Thomas C. Foster shows readers how to overcome their fear of poetry and learn to enjoy it. From classic poets such as Shakespeare, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, and Edna St. Vincent Millay to later poets such as E.E. Cummings, Billy Collins, and Seamus Heaney, How to Read Poetry Like a Professor examines a wide array of poems and teaches readers:

- How to read a poem to understand its primary meaning.
- The different technical elements of poetry such as meter, diction, rhyme, line structures, length, order, regularity, and how to learn to see these elements as allies rather than adversaries.

FRANKENSTEIN DREAMS:
A Connoisseur's Collection of Victorian Science Fiction
Michael Sims

Bloomsbury US, September 2017
Agent: Heide Lange

“A highly entertaining fusion of visionary speculation and primordial terror... make this anthology so thematically compelling.”—*Kirkus Review

“Even the most devoted science fiction reader will find unfamiliar treats in this assemblage of foundational fiction.”—*Publishers Weekly

Long before 1984, Star Wars, or The Hunger Games, Victorian authors imagined a future where new science and technologies reshaped the world and universe they knew. The great themes of modern science fiction showed up surprisingly early: space and time travel, dystopian societies, even dangerously independent machines, all inspiring the speculative fiction of the Victorian era.

In Frankenstein Dreams, Michael Sims has gathered many of the very finest stories, some by classic writers such as Jules Verne, Mary Shelley, and H.G. Wells, but many that will surprise general readers. Dark visions of the human psyche emerge in Thomas Wentworth Higginson's “The Monarch of Dreams,” while Mary E. Wilkins Freeman provides a glimpse of “the fifth dimension” in her provocative tale “The Hall Bedroom.”

With contributions by Edgar Allan Poe, Alice Fuller, Rudyard Kipling, Thomas Hardy, Arthur Conan Doyle, and many others, each introduced by Michael Sims, whose elegant introduction provides valuable literary and historical context, Frankenstein Dreams is a treasure trove of stories known and rediscovered.

Michael Sims is the author of many books including Arthur and Sherlock; The Adventures of Henry Thoreau; The Story of Charlotte's Web; Apollo's Fire; Adam's Navel; and editor of The Connoisseur's Collection Series, including The Phantom Coach: Victorian Ghost Stories; Dracula's Guest: Victorian Vampire Stories; and The Dead Witness: Victorian Detective Stories. He lives in western Pennsylvania.

“How did an obscure 26-year-old doctor achieve the most enduring literary accomplishment of his generation in just six weeks? Sims proves an ingenious investigator in this magnificent work of scholarship.”
—New York Times Book Review Editor’s Choice

Michael Sims traces the development of Arthur Conan Doyle as the father of the modern mystery, from his early days in Edinburgh surrounded by poverty, through his escape to University (where he gained terrifying firsthand knowledge of poisons), leading to his own medical practice in 1882. Five years later—following the rejection of much of what Doyle had written before then—Sherlock Holmes emerged in A Study in Scarlet. Sims deftly shows Holmes to be a product of Doyle’s adventures in his personal and professional life, built out of the traditions of Edgar Allan Poe, Émile Gaboriau, Wilkie Collins, and Charles Dickens—not just a skillful translator of clues, but a superhero of the mind in the tradition of Doyle’s esteemed teacher. Filled with surprising details, Arthur and Sherlock is a literary genesis story for detective fans everywhere.

"Tucker blends an artful reconstruction of seventeenth-century Paris with riveting storytelling, presenting a contest between terror and surveillance that has strong contemporary resonances."—The New Yorker

"I've walked alongside a prisoner on her way to her execution, learned how to poison a wineglass and watched a king's mistress do away with her rival [in] Holly Tucker's stylish study of crimes committed by the high and mighty during the 72-year reign of the Sun King, Louis XIV."

—New York Times Sunday Book Review

"Tucker is a deft scene-setter, and there is an enjoyable whiff of The Untouchables about her evocation of the Parisian underworld, Louis XIV's decision to clamp down on it, and the entry of her hero, La Reynie.... [G]ripping and enjoyable."—The Telegraph (UK)

In the late 1600s, Louis XIV, the Sun King, commands the first police chief of Paris, Nicolas de la Reynie, to clean up the city. La Reynie makes Paris the "City of Light" by ordering lanterns lit throughout the formerly dark realms of the metropolis. But that doesn't stop the frightful murders among the upper crust. As La Reynie uncovers the deaths of a justice official and his sons, his investigation tallies an ever growing number of murders, the use of witchcraft, and a plot that may endanger the King. Holly Tucker writes a riveting narrative based on court transcripts and La Reynie's own notes, that bring to life a witch and her daughter, the King's mistresses, and aristocrats accused of poisoning husbands to marry lovers. In a book that reads like fiction, the heights and depravity of Louis XIV's court are recounted in a tale of deception and murder.

Holly Tucker is professor of French Studies and Biomedical Ethics & Society at Vanderbilt University in Nashville. Founder of the Wonders & Marvels history website, she is author of Blood Work, which was reviewed internationally in The Economist, Scientific American, The Atlantic, Nature, New Scientist, Der Spiegel, Corriere della sera, among others.

SPY SITES OF WASHINGTON, DC
A Guide to the Capital Region's Secret History
Robert Wallace and H. Keith Melton, with Henry R. Schlesinger

Georgetown University Press, January 2017 (World English)
Agent: Dan Mandel

Washington Post bestseller

“[A] capsule history of spying in and around D.C., with crisply written profiles of the major players.”—Washington Times

“[A] delectable history that lives and breathes as the pages are turned. Espionage aficionados and urban explorers alike will be delighted with this experience.”—
Antonio J. Mendez, author of Argo: How the CIA and Hollywood Pulled Off the Most Audacious Rescue in History

Washington, DC, stands at the epicenter of world espionage. Mapping this history from the halls of government to tranquil suburban neighborhoods reveals scores of dead drops, covert meeting places, and secret facilities—a constellation of clandestine sites unknown to even the most avid history buffs. Until now. Spy Sites of Washington, DC traces more than two centuries of secret history from the Mount Vernon study of spymaster George Washington to the Cleveland Park apartment of the “Queen of Cuba.” In 220 main entries as well as listings for dozens more spy sites and more than 300 photos, intelligence historians Robert Wallace and H. Keith Melton weave incredible true stories of derring-do and double-crosses that put even the best spy fiction to shame. Informing and entertaining, Spy Sites of Washington, DC is the comprehensive guidebook to the shadow history of our nation’s capital.

Robert Wallace is the former director of the Central Intelligence Agency’s Office of Technical Service. He and H. Keith Melton have co-authored four books, including Spycraft: The Secret History of the CIA’s Spytechs, from Communism to Al-Qaeda (Dutton, 2008), The Official CIA Manual of Trickery and Deception (William Morrow, 2009; sold in 11 territories), and two other titles in the Spy Sites series.

H. Keith Melton is an intelligence historian and owns one of the largest collections of spy paraphernalia in the world, some of which were displayed in a traveling exhibit.

Henry R. Schlesinger is a New York-based writer who has collaborated with the authors on previous works.

RETURN TO GLORY:
The Story of Ford's Revival and Victory
at the Toughest Race in the World
Matthew DeBord

Atlantic Monthly Press, June 2017

Agent: Dan Mandel

“A page turning synthesis of business book and adventure saga... Like Ford, DeBord has triumphed.... Return to Glory is a spirited celebration of American initiative, perseverance and creativity that tells a story no less dramatic for its happy ending.”—New York Times Sunday Book Review

“Car enthusiasts will savor the insider information.... Readers from the business side will enjoy this snapshot into how an American industrial titan flourished by going back to its past as part of its future.”—Publishers Weekly (starred)

“This is more than a story of a Le Mans win. It's a fast-paced lesson in Detroit's history over the last decade, the mortgage crisis, the market collapse, and Alan Mulally's brilliant leadership. The well-documented path to the GT's brilliant Le Mans win is fascinating, and properly viewed as a fitting symbol of Ford's, and Detroit's, return to success. A great story, well told.”—Bob Lutz, former vice-chairman of GM

In January 2015 at the Detroit Auto Show, Ford unveiled a new car and the automotive world lost its collective mind. This wasn't some new Explorer or Focus. Onto the stage rolled a supercar, a carbon-fiber GT powered by a mid-mounted six-cylinder Ecoboost engine that churned out over 600 horsepower. It was sexy and jaw dropping, but, more than that, it was historic, a callback to the legendary Ford GT40 Mk IIs that stuck it to Ferrari and finished 1-2-3 at Le Mans in 1966. Detroit was back, and Ford was going back to Le Mans.

Journalist Matthew DeBord has been covering the auto industry for years, and in Return to Glory he tells the recent story of Ford. A decade ago, CEO Alan Mulally took over the iconic company and, thanks to a financial gamble and his “One Ford” plan, helped it weather the financial crisis and a stock price that plunged to $1 a share, without a government bailout. It was enough for the company to dream of repeating racing history. DeBord revisits the story of the 1960s, details the creation of the new GT, and follows the team through the racing season, from an inauspicious debut at Daytona where the cars kept breaking down, to glimmers of hope at Sebring and the team's first victory at Laguna Seca in Monterey. Finally, DeBord joins the Ford team in Le Mans in June 2016. This fabled twenty-four-hour endurance race is designed to break cars and drivers, and it was at Le Mans, fifty years after the company's greatest triumph, that Ford's comeback was put to the ultimate test.

Matthew DeBord is a Business Insider senior correspondent and a regular contributor to KCRW radio. He has written for the New York Times, Slate, Washington Post, Huffington Post, and CBS and is the author of The New York Book of Wine and Wine Country USA.

“A funny and heartfelt memoir about music collecting that

“To say Old Records Never Die is a book about music is to say On the Road is a book about cars.
Really, Eric Spitznagel's energetic and endlessly engaging memoir is a book about the ways we seek to discover and recover our essential selves.”—Davy Rothbart, creator of *Found Magazine

Amazon Best Book of the Month; featured in Vanity Fair, The Guardian, New York Post

As he finds himself within spitting distance of middle-age, journalist Eric Spitznagel feels acutely the loss of... something. Freedom? Maybe. Coolness? Could be. The records he sold in a financial pinch? Definitely. To find out for sure, he sets out on a quest to find the original vinyl artifacts from his past. Not just copies. The exact same records: The Bon Jovi record with his first girlfriend's phone number scrawled on the front sleeve. The KISS Alive II he once shared with his little brother. The Replacements Let It Be he's pretty sure, 20 years later, would still smell like weed. As he embarks on his hero's journey, he reminisces about the actual records, the music, and the people he listened to it with—old girlfriends, his high school pals, and, most poignantly, his father, who died the year his son was born. He explores the magic of music and memory as he interweaves his adventures in record-culture with questions about our connection to our past, whether we can ever recapture it, and whether we would want to if we could.

Eric Spitznagel has written for Vanity Fair, Esquire, Playboy, Details, Men's Health, New York Times Sunday magazine, and is a contributing editor for The Believer. He has written six non-fiction books and edited two humor anthologies. Please visit www.ericspitznagel.com

Duff McKagan is one of the most respected survivors in hard rock. In How to Be a Man, he shares the wisdom he gained on the path to superstardom—from his time with Guns N' Roses and Velvet Revolver to getting sober after a life of hard living to achieving his personal American Dream of marrying a supermodel, raising a family, and experiencing what it's like to be winked at by Prince.

An interviewer's favorite, McKagan's wisdom has been sought out on everything from financial planning and relationships to surviving the summer festival circuit and escaping a military coup. Expanding on his popular weekly columns in Seattle Weekly, Playboy.com, and ESPN.com, McKagan equips readers with the knowledge they need to rock fatherhood, manage their money, and remain a good dude in spite of it all.

Duff McKagan is the co-founder of hard rock groups Guns N' Roses and Velvet Revolver and is the author of the New York Times bestseller It's So Easy (and Other Lies). He lives with his family in Seattle and Los Angeles.

Chris Kornelis has written for the Wall Street Journal, the Washington Times, TheAtlantic.com, the Seattle Times, and RollingStone.com. He was also an editor at Seattle Weekly, where he edited Duff McKagan's weekly column for five years, and he taught digital journalism at Seattle University.

The spirited child—often called “difficult” or “strong-willed”—possesses traits we value in adults yet find challenging in children. Research shows that spirited kids are wired to be “more”—by temperament, they are more intense, sensitive, perceptive, persistent, and uncomfortable with change than the average child. In this revised edition of the award-winning classic, voted one of the top twenty books for parents, Kurcinka provides vivid examples and a refreshingly positive viewpoint.

Raising Your Spirited Child will help you:

- understand your child’s—and your own—temperamental traits
- discover the power of positive—rather than negative—labels
- cope with the tantrums and power struggles when they do occur
- plan for success with a simple four-step program
- develop strategies for handling mealtimes, sibling rivalry, bedtimes, holidays, and school, among other situations

Mary Sheedy Kurcinka, Ed. D is a bestselling author and internationally recognized lecturer and parent educator. Her books, which have been translated into 13 languages, include Raising Your Spirited Child; Kids, Parents, and Power Struggles, and Sleepless in America: Is Your Child Misbehaving or Missing Sleep. A former director of one of Minnesota’s largest Early Childhood Family Education programs, Kurcinka founded the Spirited Child and Kids, Parents, and Power Struggles workshops. How Your Business Will Profit from Innovative and Strategic Collaboration
David Nour

St. Martin's Press, May 2017 (World English)

A new smart business book about the urgent need for business leaders to shift their strategy into cooperative collaboration

Bestselling author David Nour is a growth strategist and the thought leader on Relationship Economics—the quantifiable value of business relationships. He works with many top-tier Fortune 100 companies.

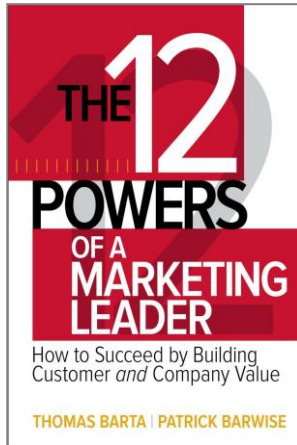

Co-Create addresses the pressing need for business leaders to shift their strategy towards collaborative relationships, as employees, customers, partners, consumers, and investors turn away from intrusive messages that push brands, products, and services at them. Customers and businesses alike are gravitating toward entities that pull them toward innovative co-creation of value and partnerships that help them achieve success.

In David Nour's new book, business leaders will find the vision, tools, and insights they need to guide their organizations through this evolution. Nour shows how organizations can drive growth in the new co-creative economy by thinking and leading differently. Established organizations possess tremendous competitive advantages in the collaborative economy, but in order to exploit those advantages, they must draw on their depth of resources and unlock their hidden assets. Strategic relationships are the hidden asset that fuels a successful shift to co-creative strategy.

David Nour is a top consultant and speaker at many global speaking engagements. Among his 100+ clients are Disney, Cisco, Chubb, Deloitte, Hilton, HP, IBM, Marriott, and Novelis. Nour is also the author of the successful Relationship Economics.

“A must-read for every present and future CMO who cares about making a difference.”—Seth Godin, author of All Marketers Are Liars

HOW TO SUCCEED AS A MARKETING LEADER IN TODAY’S GLOBAL, DIGITAL WORLD

What makes an effective and successful marketing leader? The authors of this groundbreaking book conducted a worldwide study with profiles of more than 68,000 business leaders—and discovered 12 essential traits that can make or break your success. The 12 Powers of a Marketing Leader is the first and only leadership book for marketers based on anything like this level of research evidence.

Learn how to:

MOBILIZE YOUR BOSS: Make an impact at the highest level and align marketing with the company’s priorities.

MOBILIZE YOUR COLLEAGUES: Inspire and motivate your colleagues to act on your ideas.

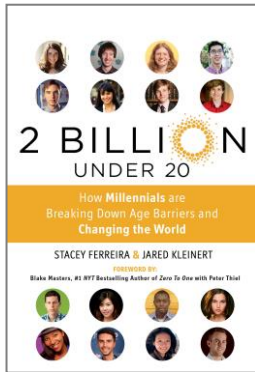

MOBILIZE YOUR TEAM: Build and hone a winning marketing team.

MOBILIZE YOURSELF: Focus on goals that will benefit your customer, company, and long-term career.

Warning: This is not a marketing book. It’s a leadership book for marketers, using the latest research on what works—and what doesn’t—in marketing’s digital age. By zeroing in on the value creation zone (“V-Zone”)—the all-important overlap between your company’s and customers’ needs—you’ll be able to help the business win in the market—and achieve your career goals.

THE DIET DETOX:

Why Your Diet is Making You Fat and What to Do About It

Brooke Alpert

BenBella, December 2017

Agent: Dan Mandel

Your diet is making you fat. Forget the fads and finally lose weight for good with 10 simple rules—and no BS.

We're addicted to fad diets, cleanses, and programs that promise miracles in minutes. But when diets have expiration dates, so do the results. After those popular 30-day diets end, people slide back into the same bad habits that led them to gain weight in the first place.

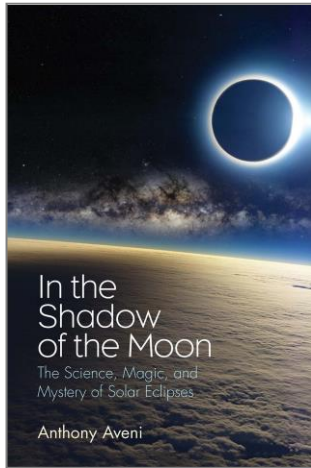

Nationally recognized nutrition expert Brooke Alpert has seen this happen far too often. She knows that in order to lose the weight and keep it off, you must develop habits that will help you stop dieting and start eating well for the rest of your life—not just the rest of the month. In The Diet Detox, Brooke shares the diet advice she would give to her friends. Engaging and encouraging, this visually friendly, easy-to-use guide lays out a set of 10 simple rules meant to teach people how to eat for lifelong health. Along with Brooke's expert advice, you'll find:

- A one-week kickstart program
- Nutritionist-tested weekly food plans and shopping lists
- 45 delicious recipes—each with no more than 5 ingredients
- 10 doable, effective high intensity interval workouts from one of NYC's top gyms

The Diet Detox is the practical, non-diet diet book that everyone should read, whether they want to lose weight, get healthy, or just stay that way. Brooke's 10 simple rules will be the last you'll ever need: stop dieting and take control of your weight and your health—for good. This is not a demanding, complicated program that leaves you hanging after you're finished reading—this is a lifestyle manual that will help you form healthy eating habits that last the rest of your life.

Brooke Alpert, MS, RD, CDN, is the author of The Sugar Detox (2013, sold in 4 territories) and Healthy Eating during Pregnancy (2011). She is the founder of B Nutritious, a nutrition counseling practice in New York City. Named by W Magazine as a star in the beauty and health field, Brooke appears on major television and print media, including The Doctor Oz Show, The Today Show, Access Hollywood, People, and Shape. IN THE SHADOW OF THE MOON:
The Science, Magic, and Mystery of Solar Eclipses
Anthony Aveni

Yale University Press, April 2017 (World English)

Agent: Faith Hamlin, Ed Maxwell

“In the Shadow of the Moon tells of the epic influence that total solar eclipses have had on our cultural history, our scientific legacy, and our emotional states of mind. And Professor Anthony Aveni may be uniquely qualified to tell this story with his characteristic sense of wonder, wit, and wisdom.”

—Neil deGrasse Tyson, author of Astrophysics for People in a Hurry

“Anthony Aveni, a cultural astronomer and the author of the 2017 book In the Shadow of the Moon, said that in every culture that he was aware of, solar eclipses were seen as cosmic ‘interruptions.’”—New York Times

“When anything extraordinary happens in nature ... it stimulates a discussion about instability in the universe,” says astronomer and anthropologist Anthony Aveni.—Smithsonian Magazine

“Anthony Aveni’s panoramic look at the history and culture of solar eclipses is a recommended way to share the spirit of the occasion.... He is also a prolific writer and an engaging raconteur.”
—Natural History Magazine

Since the first humans looked up and saw the sun swallowed by darkness, our species has been captivated by solar eclipses. Astronomer and anthropologist Anthony Aveni explains the history and culture surrounding solar eclipses, from prehistoric Stonehenge to Babylonian creation myths, to a confirmation of Einstein’s theory of general relativity, to a spectacle that left New Yorkers in the moon’s shadow, to future eclipses that will capture human imaginations.

In this accessible and engaging read, Aveni explains the science behind the phenomenon, tracks eclipses across the ancient world, and examines the roles of solar eclipses in modern times to reveal the profound effects these cosmic events have had on human history. Colored by his own experiences—Aveni has witnessed eight total solar eclipses in his lifetime—his account of astronomy’s most storied phenomenon will enthrall anyone who has looked up at the sky with wonder.

Anthony Aveni has appointments in the departments of physics & astronomy and sociology & anthropology at Colgate University. An award-winning author, he has written numerous books, including Empires of Time, Behind the Crystal Ball, and The End of Time, and has been published in 11 territories.
